support of his Declaration in this cause the following promissory Note —

Chicago July 31, 1854

To which note the defendants counsel objected.

The objection was overruled by the Court to which ruling the Defendants counsel then and then excepted -

The note and endorsement were thereupon admitted as evidence and constitute the whole of the Plaintiff's Case - The Defendant thereupon produced and offered in evidence a certain Indenture of Mortgage bearing date the 31st day of July a.d.
1854 and made between the Defendant of the first part and C. W. Griffin of the second part to secure a certain promissory note therein recited and in connection therewith produced as a witness, and offered the testimony of C. W. Griffin to prove that the promissory note on which this action is brought is the same identical note as that recited in and secured by said mo-tgage and he also offered to prove by the same witness that the plaintiff at the time of the endorsement to him of said note had notice of the above facts ~

The Plaintiff objected to the reception of all the foregoing evidence and the objection is sustained by the Court which ruling of the Court the Defendants comply therewith and they excepted ~

The Defendant further produced in evidence a Deed of conveyance dated 31st July 1854 from said E. W. Griffin to Defendant of certain property therein named with full covenants of warranty and for title and in connection therewith offers in evidence a Bill and the answer in a certain Chancery suit pending at the commencement of this suit and at the date of the note and deed by which it will appear that said E. W. Griffin had not any sufficient title to the property conveyed by said Deed and at the same time produces said E. W. Griffin in evidence to show that the note on which this action 1st The law presumes the note was indorsed to Mortimer before it was due - 2d There is no evidence, nor was any offered to show the note transferred after it was due, nor was any evidence offered to show he had notice of any defense - only that it was security a mortgage of a particular slate -

3 Even if the law had been a plain officer or first failure of consideration, no evidence could have been admitted 4 But the law is with settled stare the defense intended can only be made available under a special plea

1 $100. 207-212
2 do 506 -

5 Suppose they mortgage & note were all a part of one transaction.
What does the Si signify? How would it make a place even voids out a defense if one existed without showing Notice, or transfer of the note after them

IIII But how does it appear from the bill of exceptions what the mortgagor or trustee in Chancery were - We see if they had been admitted in evidence or not as were in, that they controvert every thing pertaining to the issue.
Will the Court perceive they did? Plaintiff himself must have the appellant should have set them out in his bill of exceptions & shown the court their pertinency -

This is the reasoning only - The defense is all a fiction & delay is all that was done for or designed

V Besides the bill of exceptions does not show it contains all the evidence -

VI I wish to speak to have done again this case - There being nothing in the record showing any dispute

Besides the parties of defense set

ORRIN J. ROSE

v. S.

WILLIAM E. MORTIMER.

Appeal from Cook County Court of Common Pleas.

This is an action of assumpsit.

- 4 Declaration states that Plaintiff on the 31st, day of July 1854, at Chicago in Cook County, made and executed his certain promissory note and then and there delivered the same to one Edward W. Griffin, by which he promised to pay to the order of said Edward W. Griffin $2,000 one year after the date of said note, with interest at six percent per annum for value received; that said Edward W. Griffin then and there endorsed said note to Gibbs Griffin & Co., who then and there endorsed the same to the Plaintiff.

And the Declaration contains the common counts for goods sold and delivered, work and labor on an account stated and for interest.

The following is a copy of the note sued on:

$2,000.

Chicago 31 July 1855.

One year after date, I promise to pay to the order of Edward W. Griffin two thousand dollars value received, with interest at six per cent per annum.

O. J. ROSE

Plea non assumpsit and similiter.

The case was submitted to the court by consent, and judgment rendered for $2150. excepted to by Plaintiff, and appeal prayed granted and ordered on the 1st, of November 1855.

At the trial the following evidence was offered by the Defendant:
A promissory note in the words and figures following:

15

Chicago July 31, 1854.

2,000.

One year after date I promise to pay to the order of Edward W. Griffin, two thousand dollars value received with interest at six per cent per annum, secured by mortgage of even date herewith.

O. J. ROSE.

Endorsed, pay Gibbs Griffin & Co., or order. E. W. Griffin.

Pay to William E. Mortimer or order. Gibbs Griffin & Co.

To the reception of which note in evidence the Plaintiff objected, and the objection was overruled, and excepted to by Plaintiff, and the note was received and constituted the whole of Defendants case.

The Plaintiff as a defence produced and offered in evidence an Indenture of Mortgage bearing date the 31st, day of July A. D. 1854, made between Plaintiff of the first part, and E. W. Griffin of the second part, to secure a certain promissory note therein recited and also produced as a witness, and offered the testimony of E. W. Griffin to prove that the promissory note on which this action is brought is the same identical note as that recited in and secured by Plaintiff's mortgage, and he also offered to prove by the same witness that the Plaintiff at the time of the endorsement to him of said note, had notice of the above facts, and the Defendant objected to all the foregoing evidence offered by Plaintiff. The objection was sustained by the Court to which ruling the Plaintiff excepted.

The Plaintiff further produced in evidence a deed of conveyance dated 31st July 1854, from E. W. Griffin, to the Plaintiff of certain property therein described with full covenants of Warranty and for title, and in connection therewith offered in evidence a Bill and the answer in a certain chancery suit pending at the commencement of this suit, and at the date of the note and Deed by which it appears that said E. W. Griffin had not any sufficient title to the property conveyed by said deed and at the same time produced said E. W. Griffin in evidence to show that the note on which the action was brought was given to secure the consideration of said deed and for no other purpose, to all which evidence Deed and Chancery proceeding the Defendant objected, which objection was sustained by the Court, and the Plaintiff excepted thereto.

The errors assigned are:

1. The rejection of proper evidence offered by Plaintiff.
2. The admission of improper evidence offered by Defendant.
2. That the court erred in rendering the judgment aforesaid.

JUNE TERM, A. D. 1856.

vs.
MORTIMER.

Abstract of the Record.

In the Supreme Court of the State of Illinois -

at Ottawa June Term 1856

Error to Cook

Orrin Strobel

vs. } Argument Wm E Mortimer } for Plaintiff in error.

The ground of error raised on this record is,-

The rejection of the mortgage and also the conveyance when offered by the appellant on the trial below.

The appellant relies on the doctrine that where several instruments are executed between the same parties, at the same time, relating to the same subject matter, they constitute but one entire contract, and therefore he had a right to insist on having that entire contract read, and not to be charged on a part of it only.

The doctrine of several instruments constituting one contract is well established by the authorities

Jackson v. Kinney 3 Wend 233 a grantor gave an absolute deed and received back an agreement for a life interest in the property Held that the two instruments formed but one contract even against subsequent purchasers without notice

see also 2 Black Comm 298

1 Burr. 60. 10b. 290

3 Johns R. 388.

1 Johns C 91

A conveyance and mortgage back are peculiarly held to be one instrument.

Stow v Rift 1 Johns C 463

Holbrook v Feinis 4 Mass 533

Lynde v Budd - 2 Paige 192 even where the mortgage is given to a third party.

1 Sands Ch 76

The same doctrine has been applied to promissory notes

Bailey v Cromwell & ors

3 Scam 71 supports a plea of special contract set up to qualify the obligation on a promissory note

See also; Vennington v Bacon Hants

10 Johns R.

How far the rule would be applied to an indorseee without any kind of notice may be open to question averil 40s v Field & Scam 392

But in the case at Bar the note purports to be secured by mortgage so that express notice was apparent on the face of it a notice on the face of a note is binding on indorsees

Frank 40s v Ryan & Scam 322

As to the right of defendant to have the entire contract read -

It is submitted that this is the general rule of evidence; and although where the Plaintiff ~~before~~ below fails to produce all the several parts of the contract, it may be presumed, in favour of the verdict, that the missing parts have been lost, or were out of his custody or control, yet, where the other side produces them and prays to have them read this presumption is entirely removed -

Besides, non constat, but the rejected mortgage or conveyance may contain material qualifications of defendants obligation, The refusal of the court below even to look at them rendered it impossible for the Defendant below to avail himself of any equities which he may have reserved in the original mortgage altho the Plaintiff had notice on the face of the note of their existence and ought in justice to be bound by them

~~Attwood Marton~~

~~for Plaintiff in error~~

Further, without referring to the mortgage it is impossible to decide whether the obligation on the promissory note (being simple contract) is or is not merged in or extinguished by the mortgage which is a security of a higher nature than a note

The law presumes prima facie that the higher security is intended as an extinguishment.
