vs.

Corwith et al.

Supreme Court Illinois
State Bank v. N. Cornutt.
A case v. H. Cornutt.
I case v. Silverburgh.

It is hereby agreed by & between the parties, that in case the judgment of the court in the above entitled cases, shall be reversed, that instead of remanding the cases to the circuit court for a new trial, the court shall render judgment against the defendants in error for the amount of damages on the protested bills, but not for any interest, & the costs recovered by the defendants in error if the court thinks right.
