John E. Wingwher the plaintiff

 Robert London and Philip J. Heingman the defendants in this suit of a plea that that the said defendants render to the said

For that whereas the said defendants

 Attornies re of Herman Herberkramer Robert London and Ph. J. Heinyman made their Certain Note in writing obligatory sealed with

 Note to the said plaintiff by which said Note and effect thereof; and although the said sum of money in said Note specified hath been long since due and payable according to the tenor and effect of said note yet the said plaintiff in fact saith that the said defendants (although after requested so to do) did not nor would pay the said sum of Eleven hundred and thirty $\frac{40}{100}$ dollars in said note specified or any part thereof to the said plaintiff in manner aforesaid or otherwise howsoever, but have hitherto wholly neglected and refused so to do whereby an action hath accrued to the said plaintiff to demand and have of

Yet the said defendants (although often requested so to do) have not as yet paid the said sum of eleven hundred and thirty $\frac{40}{100}$

Know all men by these presents that we, Herman Heckenkemper, Robert Louden, Philip J. Heingmann, Anton Hubert and Philip Conrad are held and firmly bound unto John E. Dingwells in the penal sum of twenty five hundred dollars, current money of the United States, for the payment of which well and truly to be made, we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors and administrators, jointly, severally and firmly by these presents. Witness our hands and seals this 11th day of July AD 1863.

The condition of the above obligation is such that whereas the said John E. Dingwells did at the March term AD 1863 of the circuit court in and for the County of Belmont and state of Illinois, recover a judgment against the above-bound Herman Heckenkemper, Robert Louden and Philip J. Heingmann for the sum of eleven hundred and thirty $\frac{40}{100}$ dollars debt, and ninety seven $\frac{34}{100}$ dollars damages, from which judgment the said Heckenkemper, Louden and Heingmann have sued out a writ of error from the supreme Court of the state of Illinois.

Now if the said Heckenkemper, Louden and Heingmann shall prosecute their said writ of error with effect, and pay whatever judgment may be rendered against them by said Supreme Court, upon dismissal or trial of said writ of error, then the above obligation to be void, otherwise to remain in full force and effect.

BRIEF OF PLAINTIFFS IN ERROR.

HERMAN HECKENKEMPER, et al.,
Plaintiffs in Error. }
vs. } Error to Clinton.
JOHN E. DINGWEHRS, Defendant
in Error. }

I.—THE SET-OFF.

At common law, and independent of the statute of set-off, a defendant is entitled to retain, by way of deduction, all just demands accruing to him in respect of the same transaction, which forms the ground of the action, although not a set-off in the strict legal sense of the term, but constitutes a deduction or recoupment. I. Chitty Pl. 568.

So where demands, originally cross, have, by express agreement, been stipulated to be deducted or set off against each other, only the balance can be recovered; and it is only necessary to plead such special agreement when the action is on a specialty. Ibid, 568.

The rule is, that a demand of one defendant, in a suit against several, cannot be set off, except in cases of an express agreement to that effect, and where there is such an agreement, the rule does not apply. Ibid., 571; Chitty on Con., 848; Kimberly v. Hossack, 2 Taunt., 170; Walker v. Chovin, 16 Ill., 489.

In Pennsylvania, one of two defendants may set off a debt due him from the plaintiff. Stewart v. Coulter, 12 Serg. & Rawle, 252; and Crist v. Brindley, 2 Rawle, 121.

In New York, one of several defendants, may set off a separate debt, in a suit brought on a joint and several undertaking. Under our statute, all joint obligations shall be taken, and held to be joint and several obligations. Scates Stat., 290; Parsons v. Nash, 8 Howard, 454.

II.—THE CONSIDERATION.

Any act required to be done, even of the most trifling description, is sufficient to support a promise; but in this case, the consideration was not only that the plaintiffs in error would establish the account in question in the county court, but that the county court would allow the same to the defendant in error, which is alleged in the plea to have been done; so that the defendant in error actually gets the benefit of the whole account sought to be set off. Chitty on Contracts, 32; Cabet v. Haskins, 3 Pick., 83.

Any act, not unlawful, which is for the benefit of one party, or to the prejudice of another, is a good consideration for a promise; as, where a woman promised a creditor of her deceased husband that, if he would prove the indebtedness, she would pay it; and where the promise was in consideration that the creditor would swear to his claim, were held to be sufficient considerations to support the promises. Chitty on Contracts, 33; Brooks v. Ball, 18 Johns. 337; Underhill v. Gibson, 2 N. Hamp. 352; Sampson v. Swift, 11 Vt., 315; Doyle v. Knapp, 3 Scam. 334.

III.—THE DECLARATION.

The description of the instrument sued on in this case, in the declaration of the plaintiff below, as a promissory note or writing obligatory, being in the disjunctive, is uncertain. I. Chitty's Pl., 243.

An averment that the note sued on was "lost or destroyed," was held to be bad for uncertainty. Rogers v. Miller, 4 Scammon, 334.

The doctrine laid down in the case of Wilson v. Myrick, 26 Ill. R., 34, that we cannot plead and demur to the declaration at the same time, may apply in this case; but that other doctrine applies as well, that "those who live in glass houses should not throw stones." Reeves v. Foreman, 26 Ill. R., 313.

ABSTRACT OF THE RECORD.

HERMAN HECKENKEMPER, et al.,
 Plaintiffs in Error.
 vs.
 JOHN E. DINGWEHRS, Defendant
 in Error.

Error to Clinton.

- R. 6 This was an action of debt brought by the defendant in error vs. the plaintiffs in error, upon a promissory note, under seal, payable to the defendant in error, as "commissioner to sell the real estate of John Nordhouse, deceased," for the sum of $1130 40, dated April 29th, 1861, due twelve months after date, drawing ten per cent. interest after due.
- R. 3 The declaration is in the usual form in such cases, except that the instrument sued on is therein described as "a promissory note or writing obligatory."
- R. 7 At the March term, 1863, the plaintiffs in error filed their plea of the general issue, and a special plea, setting out that, on the 15th day of May, 1861, the defendant in error agreed with Herman Heckenkemper, one of the defendants below, that if said H. would establish in the Clinton county court a certain account which H. claimed to have against the heirs of John Nordhouse, deceased, as their former guardian, and said court would allow the same to Dingwehrs, then that D. would give H. credit, for the amount so established and allowed, on the note sued on in this case; and plea avers that H. did, at the August term, 1861, of said county court, establish said account in said county court to the amount of $335 00, and that said county court did, then and there, allow the same to said D., he then being the guardian of said heirs; which sum so established and allowed, the plea asked to be set off and allowed as credit on the note sued on, as per agreement between Dingwehrs and Heckenkemper, and concludes with a verification.
- R. 8 Defendant in error joined issue on the first plea of the plaintiffs in error, and filed a special demurrer to their second plea, setting down the following causes: 1. That said plea sought offset of an individual demand. 2. That it stated a contract without consideration, a nudum pactum. 3. That said plea was otherwise insufficient.
- R. 9 The circuit court sustained the demurrer to the second plea, and the plaintiffs in error elected to stand by the plea.
- R. 10 The cause was tried by the court, upon the general issue, who rendered judgment for the defendant below for $1130 40 debt and $97 34 damages and cost of suit. Defendants below entered a motion for new trial and in arrest of judgment, which motions were overruled by the court and execution ordered on the judgment.
- R. 11 ERRORS ASSIGNED.
 1. The court below erred in sustaining the demurrer to the second plea of the plaintiffs in error.
 2. The court below erred in not sustaining said demurrer to the declaration of the plaintiff below.
 3. The court below erred in rendering judgment for the plaintiff below for $1130 40 debt and $97 34 damages and cost of suit.
 4. The court below erred in overruling the motions by the plaintiffs in error for a new trial and in arrest of judgment.

BRIEF OF PLAINTIFFS IN ERROR.

HERMAN HECKENKEMPER, et al.,
Plaintiffs in Error. }
vs. } Error to Clinton.
in Error. }

I.—THE SET-OFF.

At common law, and independent of the statute of set-off, a defendant is entitled to retain, by way of deduction, all just demands accruing to him in respect of the same transaction, which forms the ground of the action, although not a set-off in the strict legal sense of the term, but constitutes a deduction or recoupment. I. Chitty Pl. 568.

So where demands, originally cross, have, by express agreement, been stipulated to be deducted or set off against each other, only the balance can be recovered; and it is only necessary to plead such special agreement when the action is on a specialty. Ibid, 568.

The rule is, that a demand of one defendant, in a suit against several, cannot be set off, except in cases of an express agreement to that effect, and where there is such an agreement, the rule does not apply. Ibid., 571; Chitty on Con., 848; Kimberly v. Hossack, 2 Taunt., 170; Walker v. Chovin, 16 Ill., 489.

In Pennsylvania, one of two defendants may set off a debt due him from the plaintiff. Stewart v. Coulter, 12^o Serg. & Rawle, 252; and Crist v. Brindle, 2 Rawle, 121.

In New York, one of several defendants, may set off a separate debt, in a suit brought on a joint and several undertaking. Under our statute, all joint obligations shall be taken, and held to be joint and several obligations. Scates Stat., 290; Parsons v. Nash, 8 Howard, 454.

II.—THE CONSIDERATION.

Any act required to be done, even of the most trifling description, is sufficient to support a promise; but in this case, the consideration was not only that the plaintiffs in error would establish the account in question in the county court, but that the county court would allow the same to the defendant in error, which is alleged in the plea to have been done; so that the defendant in error actually gets the benefit of the whole account sought to be set off. Chitty on Contracts, 32; Cabet v. Haskins, 3 Pick., 83.

Any act, not unlawful, which is for the benefit of one party, or to the prejudice of another, is a good consideration for a promise; as, where a woman promised a creditor of her deceased husband that, if he would prove the indebtedness, she would pay it; and where the promise was in consideration that the creditor would swear to his claim, were held to be sufficient considerations to support the promises. Chitty on Contracts, 33; Brooks v. Ball, 18 Johns. 337; Underhill v. Gibson, 2 N. Hamp. 352; Sampson v. Swift, 11 Vt., 315; Doyle v. Knapp, 3 Scam. 334.

III.—THE DECLARATION.

The description of the instrument sued on in this case, in the declaration of the plaintiff below, as a promissory note or writing obligatory, being in the disjunctive, is uncertain. I Chitty's Pl., 243.

An averment that the note sued on was "lost or destroyed," was held to be bad for uncertainty. Rogers v. Miller, 4 Scammon, 334.

The doctrine laid down in the case of Wilson v. Myrick, 26 Ill.
